To assist NDIA in better serving its membership and its support to the defense and national security of our country, I urge you to respond to the below survey by the 5 Jun suspense. Thanks in advance and stay safe.

George B Rivard

President, Iowa-Illinois Chapter
National Defense Industrial Association

A Message from Gen (Ret) Hawk Carlisle

As a valued member, your needs constitute the National Defense Industrial Association's top priority. While our defense industrial base navigates this challenging time, we work together to promote the best policies, practices, products, services, and technology in support of our warfighters.

To that end, we engaged Bernuth & Williamson to help us evaluate two initiatives: an Emerging Technologies Institute that will operate similar to a trusted think tank to expand our thought leadership role and a Business Institute to provide critical education, training, and certifications to defense industry professionals.

In order to evaluate how best to serve you, we ask that you complete a 15-minute Member Survey about these initiatives by 5:00 pm on June 5. Your participation will not only help us make the best decisions but also keep NDIA the trusted defense and national security association leader. All responses will be kept strictly confidential unless you choose to identify your company. If you have any questions, please contact Camilla Shanley at cshanley@NDIA.org.

We know both how valuable your time is and how important it is to ensure the safety and security of warfighters' families while they ensure the same for us and see our nation through this crisis. For every unique survey submission, we will donate $1—up to $2,000—to the Fisher House Foundation, a non-profit organization devoted to assisting military families around the world while their loved one is in the hospital.

We are incredibly grateful for your membership in NDIA, your role in the defense and national security of our nation, and your participation in this survey. We hope to hear from you soon.

Best,

Hawk
