About the Symposium

The Iowa / Illinois Chapter of the National Defense Industrial Association (NDIA) is hosting the 17th Annual Midwest Government Contracting Symposium on Tuesday, June 2nd and Wednesday, June 3rd 2026 at Vibrant Arena in Moline, IL to give Defense Contractors working in our region valuable resources and opportunities in this field.

The world is a dangerous place – now more than ever. That is why our Symposium this year is centralized around the theme of Readiness Without Limits. In light of our current environment, readiness, planning, and logistics are increasingly more important, and industry needs to be able to step up and support those lines of effort. This year, our focus is to inform and connect industry with the proper Army and Air Force tenants at Rock Island Arsenal and Scott Air Force Base they can immediately support. Additionally, considering readiness, also includes resources for both industry and government to help ensure expeditious connections and better support for our nation’s most valuable asset – our warfighter. Whether it is in relation to defending the homeland or deterring imminent adversaries from creating emerging threats, it is important now more than ever for meaningful, concise, and mutually beneficial conversations between industry and government to happen.

NDIA will sponsor a two-day conference at Vibrant Arena in Moline, IL where we will bring in Veterans of the Defense Industry to discuss the current working environment and how our Defense Department is planning to sustain and grow the U.S. Industry Base, Supply Chain and Mission Command (and where industry can meet their needs). By attending, you will be receiving the latest information on hot topics in government contracting, Army, and Air Force Doctrine, as well as taking advantage of the chance to interact with key government and industry experts. You won’t want to miss this vital networking opportunity!

Regional Defense Ecosystem

Rock Island Arsenal (RIA)

Rock Island Arsenal hosts several key Army organizations focused on support in sustainment, logistics, contracting, and training across the force. Major tenants include:

Army Contracting Command

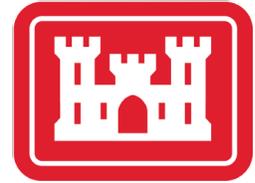

Army Sustainment Command

Joint Munitions Command

First Army

United States Army Corps of Engineers

RIA is also home to the Rock Island Arsenal – Joint Manufacturing and Technology Center (RIA-JMTC), a vertically integrated metal manufacturing facility. JMTC provides capabilities ranging from foundry operations to advanced manufacturing and supports hundreds of projects annually.

These commands and capabilities collectively contribute to Army readiness and offer important context for industry regarding logistics, sustainment, modernization, and manufacturing priorities. Their inclusion in the Symposium is intended to inform attendees and support dialogue, not promote or endorse any organization.

Regional Defense Ecosystem

Scott Air Force Base (Scott AFB)

Scott Air Force Base serves as a major hub for global transportation, mobility, and logistics operations. Major tenants include:

*Air Mobility
Command*

12th Air Force

*United States
Transportation
Command*

*US Army
Transportation
Command*

These organizations play central roles in enabling the movement of personnel and materiel worldwide. Their missions provide valuable insight into the broader defense logistics enterprise and help industry understand current challenges, priorities, and areas of alignment.

The Symposium features these commands to provide clarity on mission needs and encourage productive, professional discussion to support national defense objectives, without implying endorsement or solicitation.
